Background

Over the first four months of the original ITG contract, GETTR has seen growing relevance of the Brazil market in the platform. Often, Brazil has topped the ranking of signups by country.

According to the GETTR CEO himself and a host of other executives in the firm, ITG's contribution has been invaluable not only in Brazil but as a standard for operations with local players (consultants, agencies) in many other countries.

The positive results and feedback cannot hide the fact that there is still much work to be done.

ITG is wrapping up the final report comprising the deliveries made during the original contract. This report will address every topic listed in the original proposal, how they were delivered and – if not – why.

This proposal aims to address:

- Items from the original contract that have not been covered yet;
- Items in which constant supervision is still necessary; and
- New needs and opportunities that have presented themselves.

Main Objectives

The purpose of this consultancy remains the same: to offer the necessary guidance for GETTR not only to avoid common pitfalls of the Brazilian business and political landscape, but also to help it thrive in and from it.

The services offered in this proposal are of Marketing and Management nature.

Project Summary

This project intends to cover GETTR's needs over the first few months of the calendar year of 2022, comprising the following topics:

- I. Influencer Program
- II. Branding and Advertising
- III. PR
- IV. Set Up Of Local Operations
- V. Advisory

He also advised two members of the Moreira Salles family (shareholders of Itaú Unibanco) in their investments at Botafogo, a top tier soccer club in Rio.

Marcelo helped Yahoo Brazil transition to a player in the programmatic advertising world and later became Director of Digital Strategies at Estadão, one of the top newspapers in the country – where he established a well-oiled machine of digital subscriptions that broke records.

Marcelo recently joined Hotmart, the world's top end-to-end platform for digital products (mainly online courses), which recently broke the US$ 1 billion valuation mark. He will perform as the scale-up's Global Head of Growth.

Proposal

I. Influencer Program

What it comprises of

Envisioned by ITG, the Influencer Program aims to build the virtuous cycle needed in the dynamics of social media platforms: more content brings more users, who create more content, which brings more users...

With the contribution of GETTR executives, the Program has evolved into an open invitation for influencers from any background, political view or field of interest. This reinforces GETTR's commitment with its stance as a platform that supports freedom of expression, not one that is focused solely on politics or one side of the political debate.

Regardless, the Program will target a specific list of influencers, more closely connected to the audience that first joined the platform. These influencers will be invited to join through an operation set up by a specific local vendor (Script).

The basic (non-tech) specifications of the Program have been presented in a separate document.

The Program is in its early stages of development, given the hurdles that have had to be overcome for the Program to be fully green lit. ITG will continue to have a role in setting up the Program, in order to make sure that it (1) reflects the goals intended, (2) complies with local rules and legislation and (3) sends out the intended message to all stakeholders.

1. Supervision Of Pitch Material Production

- Scope
 - This task is responsibility of the GETTR Brazil team (Camila Magalhães) with the support of Script.
 - ITG's responsibility is to supervise creation and iteration of the material to ensure adherence to the Program, effectiveness of proposal and response to objections.
- What Triggers This Task
 - Approval of this proposal.
- Deliverables
 - PowerPoint decks, with focus on the different tiers of influencers.

2. Supervision Of The Enrollment Process

- Scope
 - The enrollment process is one of the most crucial steps in the influencer journey in the Program. This step is not restricted to the influencers that will be invited to join.
 - As pointed out in the separate document (Influencer Journey), the enrollment process is set to take place within a group of pages referred to as "enrollment environment," but also encompasses the background check, to be conducted by GT Lawyers.

- ITG's task is to supervise the building of the enrollment process to ensure adherence to what has previously decided by the Board.
- What Triggers This Task
 - Green light to the IT development of the Program.
- Deliverables
 - Written recommendations, if requested.

3. Supervision Of Analyses

- Scope
 - Starting 30 days after the first influencer has joined the Program, analyses will have to be performed in order to decide whether each individual influencer has met the criteria to be eligible to compensation and whether s/he has generated sufficient engagement on GETTR.
 - ITG's task is:
 - To instruct Script in the process of conducting the first 30-day analysis.
 - To assist GETTR in analyzing the level of engagement that influencers in the Program have generated on the platform.
- What Triggers This Task
 - Official launch of the Program.
- Deliverable
 - Written recommendation in case changes have to be made to the enrollment threshold.

4. Supervision Of Review

- Scope
 - With the information of engagement generated on the platform by the influencers in the Program, ITG will assist GETTR in:
 - Evaluating the actual ROI of the Influencer Program (at least three months after official launch).
 - Determining the new rules for the Influencer Program based on GETTR engagement – which in fact constitutes a second iteration of the Program.
- What Triggers This Task
 - Three-month evaluation of the Program.
- Deliverables
 - Written evaluation of the Program ROI.
 - Written recommendation with new rules based on GETTR engagement.
